

Four friends play in a garden near the city.
Children's names are Lucas, Diego, Maria and Roberta.

One day children see the world has some problems: contamination and poverty.

They decide to try to improve things.

A while a wizard arrives and he encourages children to collaborate.

Lucas and Diego go to the city and they persuade all to respect the environment.

Maria and Roberta walk in the woods, they meet a poor and they help him.

In the evening children come back to at the garden and they tell their adventures.

Friends are happy because people accepted their advices. The wizard comes back, he thanks children and he gives them a magic house.

Children go in the house and they meet many people.

All together make a party because the world has become better.
